THE SKIN EVOLVES WITH AGE

The skin is the biggest organ of the human body. It is composed of different elements such as:

- hyaluronic acid molecules, water reservoirs which moisturise the skin and gives the skin its plump appearance;
- collagen fibers, which provide the skin its firmness;
- elastin fibers, which give tone and elasticity to the skin;
- melanin pigments, which color the skin during sun exposure in order to protect it.

From the age of 40, cellular ageing increases :

- hyaluronic acid presence is reduced;
- the quantity of collagen decreases;
- elastin fibers tend to break;
- Melanin spreads itself in a less uniform way

SIGNS OF AGEING ARE MORE VISIBLE:

WRINKLES, LACK OF FIRMNESS, LOSS OF MOISTURE AND RADIANCE, THE COMPLEXION LOOKS LESS EVEN

A SPECIFIC ACTIVITY DURING THE NIGHT

The skin regenerates itself 3 times faster during the night than during the day. It is also more receptive to active ingredients : skin «lowers its guard» since it does not need to protect itself against external aggressions. However, it also dries out a lot during this time. Therefore, adopting a specific regime for the night is an essential step for mature skins!
